Changes or additions indicated by italics, deletions by ~~strikeout~~.

Section 1. Minnesota Statutes 1965, Section 35.82, Subdivision 1, is amended to read:

35.82 Livestock sanitation; disposition of carcasses; mink ranches. Subdivision 1. Every person owning or having in charge any domestic animal that has died or been killed on account of disease shall immediately bury the carcass thereof at least three feet deep in the ground, or cause the same to be consumed by fire; provided, however, that the livestock sanitary board, through its secretary and executive officer, may issue a permit to owners of rendering plants, located within the boundaries of Minnesota, provided such rendering plants are operated and conducted as required by law, to remove carcasses of domestic animals and fowl that have died or have been killed otherwise than by being slaughtered for human consumption, over the public highways to their plants for rendering purposes in accordance with the rules and regulations adopted by the livestock sanitary board relative to transportation, rendering, and all other provisions deemed by that board to be necessary to prevent the spread of disease; and to owners of rendering plants located in any adjacent state with which a reciprocal agreement is in effect, as provided in subdivision 2. No person shall sell or offer to sell, or give away such a carcass of a domestic animal when the animal died or was killed otherwise than by being slaughtered for human consumption, nor convey the same along any public road or upon any land not his own; unless in accordance with a special permit, as ~~hereinbefore~~ provided in this section of Minnesota Statutes; nor shall any person negligently or wilfully permit diseased animals owned or controlled by him to escape his control or to run at large. Every violation of any provision of this section shall be a misdemeanor.

Sec. 2. Minnesota Statutes 1965, Section 35.82, is amended by adding a subdivision to read:

Subd. 1a. If a veterinarian examines a domestic animal that has died or has been killed otherwise than by being slaughtered for human consumption, and if the veterinarian, after his examination, certifies that to the best of his knowledge and belief the animal was not affected with any contagious, infectious, or communicable disease, the livestock sanitary board, through its secretary and executive officer, may issue a permit to the owner or operator of a mink ranch, located within the boundaries of Minnesota, to transport the carcass of such animal over the public highways to his ranch for mink feeding purposes. Permits may not be issued for the interstate movement of such carcasses.
